Sir:

DECLARATION

1. Applicants deposited cDNA isolated from human placenta and encoding human IL-1ra-R polypeptide with the American Type Culture Collection (ATCC), 10801 University Boulevard, Manassas, VA 20110-2209.

2. The deposit was accepted by the ATCC, an International Depository Authority, under the provisions of the Budapest Treaty, and the deposit was designated as PTA-1423. A copy of the ATCC receipt for this deposit, showing the patent deposit designation (Accession No. PTA-1423) and the date on which the deposit was received by the ATCC (February 29, 2000) is attached.

3. Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.808(a)(2), the deposit was made under conditions that assure that all restrictions imposed by the depositors on the availability to the public of the deposited material would be irrevocably removed upon the granting of a patent relying on the deposited biological material.

4. In making the deposit, Applicants acknowledged their responsibility, pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.805, to provide a replacement or supplemental deposit if the depository possessing the deposit is unable to furnish samples thereof or is able to furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification.

The strain will be made available if a patent office signatory to the Budapest Treaty certifies one's right to receive, or if a U.S. Patent is issued citing the strain, and ATCC is instructed by the United States Patent &amp; Trademark Office or the depositor to release said strain.

If the culture should die or be destroyed during the effective term of the deposit, it shall be your responsibility to replace it with living culture of the same.

The strain will be maintained for a period of at least 30 years from date of deposit, or five years after the most recent request for a sample, whichever is longer. The United States and many other countries are signatory to the Budapest Treaty.

The viability of the culture cited above was tested March 8, 2000. On that date, the culture was viable.International Depository Authority: American Type Culture Collection, Manassas, VA 20110-2209 USA.Signature of person having authority to represent ATCC:
